Yumba-Meta Limited. Celebrating 50 years of achieving sustainable communities through access to housing and support services.

Through secure, affordable, and culturally appropriate accommodation and support, Yumba-Meta Limited effectively breaks the cycles of poverty, substance abuse, and domestic violence for numerous individuals and families.

Over the last 50 years, Yumba-Meta Limited has greatly impacted the lives of vulnerable individuals and families, especially Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities.

We are committed to remaining a powerful advocate for our community, offering services tailored to diverse personal and cultural requirements, and creating positive change.

Ernie Hoolihan: The Visionary Founder of Yumba-Meta Limited

Dr. Ernest Hoolihan OAM, affectionately known as 'Ernie,' is an icon of Indigenous empowerment, celebrated as the visionary founder of Yumba-Meta Limited.

Established in 1973 under the Whitlam Government, Yumba-Meta's enduring impact on Townsville's First Nations communities stands as a testament to Ernie's indomitable spirit.

While Ernie has retired from his active roles, his legacy within Yumba-Meta endures as a beacon of hope and transformation. This organisation, under his leadership, not only came into existence but thrived, providing vital services, advocating for Indigenous rights, and nurturing a strong sense of community and pride.

Ernie's unwavering commitment to justice for Indigenous communities was further exemplified by his roles within the Townsville Aboriginal and Islander Legal Service. He served as the first secretary, past treasurer, and President, making him an integral part of its foundation and growth.

Ernie's influence extends far beyond Yumba-Meta. His dedication to preserving Indigenous heritage and cultural traditions is evident in the establishment of the Townsville Aboriginal Cultural Centre. This cultural hub stands as a testament to his enduring commitment to the rich heritage of Indigenous communities.

For over three decades, Ernie championed the rights and well-being of Aboriginal inmates through the Legal Service, ensuring that their voices were heard and their dignity upheld.

Even in retirement, his commitment to the welfare of seniors continues to shine through his work with the Seniors Safety Group, contributing to the Townsville Safe Communities Project.

Ernie's philanthropic spirit endures as he tirelessly raised funds for local causes, including the beloved Leukaemia House. His legacy also includes the creation of TAIHS (Townsville Aboriginal and Islanders Health Services), which provides comprehensive healthcare access to Indigenous communities.

Ernie's illustrious journey is adorned with a rich collection of accolades. Notably, as a Medal of the Order of Australia awardee, the National NAIDOC Male Elder of the Year in 2021, Queensland Senior Citizen of the Year in 2006, and the Townsville City Council Senior of the Year in 2020.

A distinguished Past Student of Townsville Grammar, and an Honorary Doctorate recipient, these awards and accolades bear testament to a life dedicated to justice, education, and community well-being.

As we celebrate the 50th Anniversary of Yumba-Meta Limited, we pay tribute to Ernie Hoolihan, whose visionary leadership, dedication to justice, and philanthropic endeavors have left an indelible mark on the First Nations communities in Townsville.

His enduring legacy continues to inspire and uplift, reminding us that one person's commitment can create lasting change.

YUMBA-META LIMITED

Fiftieth Anniversary Gala Dinner

FRIDAY 9TH JUNE 2023
TOWNSVILLE STADIUM, MURRAY
COMPERE ERNIE DINGO

Chairperson's Report

Muriel Bin Dol

As my first year as Chairperson of Yumba-Meta Ltd I have great pleasure in presenting my report for 2023. I acknowledge my fellow directors on the board Dr Ernest Hoolihan (Patron), Dr Janine Gertz, Peter Lindsay, Dawn Charteris, Douglas Dunstan, Max Lenoy and Greg Redington the Company Secretary.

I wish to highlight some of the significant achievements for the year – celebrating 50 years of services was big for the organisation and the community. The 50th Anniversary Gala Dinner was very successful, and I thank the staff of Yumba-Meta for pulling together such a high-quality event. There was good media coverage and positive feedback from the community in a year, which has been difficult for our community regarding adverse reporting. Yumba-Meta is proud to show black excellence with the new office building and all our services.

There were several highlights during NAIDOC Week. A key one was securing operational funding for the Karingal Patient Transition Accommodation Facility. The Minister for Housing Megan Scanlon came up to Townsville and announced the funding onsite at Karingal with Uncle Ernie, staff, and myself present. Positive reporting recognised that Karingal would be a legacy for Yumba-Meta. Funding for Karingal is $2.1M annually. This achievement resulted from years of consistent advocacy by Dushy and the current and previous boards.

YML also secured funding for a First Nations Cultural Advisor position to the Townsville High Risk Team.

YML completed the construction of four duplexes for social housing, taking the total tenancies to 203.

In October 2022, YML secured funding to manage young people in residential care in four homes.

One of the things I am very proud of is the Yumba-Meta workforce. YML staff numbers have increased from 55 in December 2022 to 94 as of October 2023.

I am most proud of our workforce's stability; our CEO has 28 years of service, which has been key to our long-term aspirations and success. We have more than 20 staff who have ten years of service. This longevity indicates that YML is an employer of choice in the community.

YML will be commencing civil works at Riverway Drive shortly and undertaking $10M worth of capital works in the next 12 months. Funding has been secured, which will provide stability for the organisation.

We are at a point where we are managing a big business with over $40M of equity. The board's decisions revolve around looking after the organisation's long-term interest and being good custodians for the future generations of our mob in Townsville.

I thank Dushy and Changyi for the detailed reports they provide monthly for board meetings, which we critique and give feedback on.

I am proud to announce the commencement of the formal operations of Karingal on 6th November 2023.

I take this opportunity to specially thank Dawn Charteris for her contribution to Yumba-Meta over 23 years as a board member.

CEO's Report

Dushy Thangiah

It is my pleasure to present the 2023 report to members and stakeholders. I am honoured and humbled to lead an organisation that has consistently supported the community for 50 years, with elders and board members sharing their wisdom and cultural knowledge to build a robust and culturally responsive organisation.

Yumba-Meta Limited (YML) staff have worked hard through challenging times to deliver services to the community. I am privileged to lead such a dedicated team of staff who strive to eliminate the inequalities in our society. The past few challenging years have displayed the unwavering resilience of the YML workforce. They have effectively adapted to the changing environment and needs of our community.

YML completed the construction of one multi-gen home, eight social housing dwellings, and one Specialist Disability accommodation home during the year. These homes provided 11 secure tenancies to local families. As a leading housing provider, we are committed to increasing social and affordable housing through a planned construction strategy over the next three to five years.

The housing crisis across Australia has highlighted the lack of Government investment in social and affordable housing over many years. Housing providers nationwide are welcoming the national spotlight on the housing crisis, which has resulted in record investment into the housing sector.

YML continues to manage several housing programs (Long-term Community Housing, Employment Education Accommodation, Senior Housing and Supported Housing) and several support programs (The Reverend Charles Harris Diversionary Centre, Breaking the Cycle, Dale Parker Place, Women's Shelters, Townsville Family Violence Support Service, First Nations Cultural Advisor Service, Residential Care for Young People and Early Education program) which are operating at maximum capacity.

Our increased presence in the Domestic and Family Violence sector in Townsville has provided the much-needed cultural support that was lacking in achieving a positive impact. YML was awarded the First Nations Cultural Advisor funding for the Townsville High Risk Team. Brenda Lucas has been appointed to the role and is achieving incredible results for First Nations victim-survivors and persons using violence.

Karingal Patient Transition Accommodation Facility will accommodate and support Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people travelling from remote and rural communities for treatment at the Townsville University Hospital. Construction was completed in August 2021. YML secured operational funding in July 2023 and commenced operations on 6th November 2023. Through this program, we aim to improve health outcomes for vulnerable First Nations people from rural and remote communities who struggle to access appropriate mainstream health services.

YML received Development Application Approval to construct social housing at the YML-owned Riverway Drive precinct. These new projects will improve access to housing in the Upper Ross area. Construction is expected to commence by March 2024 and deliver 28 new social housing dwellings.

I am particularly pleased that Housingwise Realty, YML's not-for-profit real estate agency has gained momentum, with 13 properties currently under our management. Through this project, YML hopes to increase housing options for people who face discrimination and poor judgement in the private housing market.

I take this opportunity to thank the Board for their stewardship and the independent chairs of the sub-committees for the professional support provided to YML.

I sincerely appreciate the YML Senior Management team and front-line staff, the true heroes of Yumba-Meta. I applaud them for their dedication and commitment. These amazing people work tirelessly to create an inclusive society. Finally, I acknowledge the contribution of all our consultants, contractors, and service providers for their ongoing professionalism and commitment to Yumba-Meta.

YML will continue to advocate for increased housing, culturally appropriate responses for domestic and family violence issues and better access to health and other essential services that meet the changing needs of our community.

Our promise to the Townsville community is that we will continue to be a strong voice for our community, ensuring services are place-based, person-centred, culturally appropriate and sustainable. We strive to make Townsville a place where all community members can be equal participants, making Townsville a vibrant and thriving community.

New Head Office Official Opening

On Friday, September 30th last year, Yumba-Meta Limited celebrated the official opening of its new head office located at 202 Ross River Road, Aitkenvale. The ceremony was presided over by founder, past chair, and current patron, Dr. Ernest Michael Hoolihan OAM.

Spanning an expansive 1260 square metres across two floors, the new head office boasts modern office spaces and facilities. Among its highlights are a versatile multipurpose boardroom and additional areas earmarked for the future expansion of YML's services and programs. For added convenience, the secure rear parking area accommodates up to 33 vehicles.

The strategic acquisition of this new head office was driven by YML's vision for growth. Beyond providing ample space for expansion, the new head office significantly elevates the profile of Yumba-Meta Limited. Situated along the bustling Ross River Road as a prominent fixture, the building reinforces YML's standing as the foremost provider of housing and support services for First Nations people in Townsville.

Specialist Disability Accommodation (SDA) Construction

In November 2019, after two years in development, Yumba-Meta delivered Townsville's first-ever newly built and NDIA-accredited Specialist Disability Accommodation (SDA).

All of the homes on the 4 sites at Hillside Gardens have been built, housing 8 SDA residents .

The properties feature wide doorways, wide hallways, adjustable height kitchen benchtops with accessibility underneath for wheelchairs, and other SDA specifications to meet the needs of those living with a disability.

It remains an ongoing challenge to connect available SDA properties with suitable tenants, as these properties require a referral through NDIS. Yumba-Meta continues advocating for those who require access to appropriate housing by educating NDIS support coordinators and NDIS support services.

Long-term Housing Program Resident

Nelson Donaldson has been a tenant of Yumba-Meta for around a decade, after first being connected with the organisation through the Department of Housing.

‘Home’ for Nelson is a tidy little apartment within a small, gated complex, within the established and popular city-fringe suburb of South Townsville.

“I’ve rented the same unit here in South Townsville the whole time,” says Nelson, who lives alone and says he’s had no issues with the low-maintenance, one-bedroom, one-bathroom property over the 10 years.

“It’s all pretty good here, I don’t complain much, and I know Yumba-Meta is good at fixing any issues. They are good to deal with.”

Now aged 31 years, the South Townsville lifestyle suits him. “It’s good, it’s nice and quiet most of the time and it’s close to everything,” he says.

Accommodation & Support Services

The Reverend Charles Harris Diversionary Centre (RCHDC)

The Reverend Charles Harris Diversionary Centre is a sobering-up facility open 24 hours a day, 365 days of the year, designed to support people at risk of harming themselves or others due to public intoxication.

The centre provides them with a safe and familiar place to sober up, a clean bed, healthy meal, hygiene and laundry facilities and basic first aid if necessary. Assistance is provided to those who are too intoxicated to meet their basic needs unaided.

The centre is an alternative to the Townsville Police Watch House. Clients are transported to and from the centre.

Breaking The Cycle

Managed at the Reverend Charles Harris Diversionary Centre this program was developed in response to the number of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people regularly seeking sanctuary from substance abuse. Allowing clients to remain in the centre for an extended period gives them the incentive to become more involved with the programs offered.

All regular clients of Reverend Charles Harris Diversionary Centre are encouraged to participate in the Breaking the Cycle Program. If successful, they transition to Dale Parker Place, community housing or private rental depending on the client's capacity to maintain a tenancy.

FACTS & FIGURES:

The Reverend Charles Harris Diversionary Centre has sheltered 10,950 individuals since 2008.

Since 2011, 2920 clients have participated in the Breaking the Cycle Program.

Accommodation & Support Services

Dale Parker Place (DPP)

Dale Parker Place (DPP) accommodates and supports single males, single females, and couples without children who are experiencing homelessness and are currently sleeping rough or chronically homeless to attain independent, sustainable housing and participate within the community.

Dale Parker Place occupancy has exceeded 95% at all times, with several clients successfully transitioning into private or community housing.

The service provides a high level of individual case management to clients to support their transition to appropriate accommodation. DPP staff the facility 24 hours per day, seven days a week.

The original building of 25 tenancies was demolished in 2016 and replaced with a new 40 x 1 bedroom unit complex that opened in August 2017.

FACTS & FIGURES:

Since 2015, Dale Parker Place has housed and supported over 40 individuals daily, providing accommodation and on-site assistance.

Kerryann Mudd

Client, Dale Parker Place

After being homeless for more than a decade, Kerryann Mudd is working to break the cycle and build a new life for herself with support from Yumba-Meta.

The Palm Island native was living homeless in Mareeba in 2021 when she returned to Palm Island for a funeral. After the funeral, she stayed in Townsville, couch surfing and sleeping in the park.

Kerryann has long battled with drinking but says the death of her son in 2021 was a turning point. "My eldest son hung himself, so after I buried him, I came back to Townsville and was still drinking, drinking, every day of the week," shares Kerryann, who spent time at Yumba-Meta's Reverend Charles Harris Diversionary Centre, where she discovered the Breaking the Cycle program. "I put myself on the program, and I'm glad I did. I'm glad to be off the streets."

Kerryann grew up in the foster home system. She left Palm Island around 1980 to move to Victoria and live with her mother and stepfather. In 1986, at 14 years old, Kerryann gave birth to her first child, a son. She returned to Palm Island two years later, leaving her two eldest children with her mother to raise. She had two more children, and due to alcohol use, her youngest two children were raised by family in Mareeba and Palm Island.

"After I had my children, I went tripping. I just been a drunk ever since until I came here," says Kerryann, who moved into her studio apartment at Dale Parker Place in March 2022.

"I'm doing really well here, I'm very proud of myself. I have a little roof over my head, somewhere I can call home, and I'm about to have my first Christmas here! Only wish my eldest son was here to see me."

For Kerryann, family is a big motivation. "Hopefully, I'll stay here awhile, keep bettering myself, then get a transfer to the suburbs so my eldest grandson can come live with me.

"My goal is to get out there and face the world."

Flora House Women's Shelter

Yumba-Meta manages two Women's Shelters, namely Flora House and Elsie House (which we own). These shelters offer round-the-clock support to women and their children facing domestic and family violence.

Flora House, with ten bedrooms, and Elsie House, with six bedrooms, provide a warm, welcoming, and non-judgmental environment.

FACTS & FIGURES:

Over the past five years, Flora House Women's Shelter has supported 796 women and 371 children. Since its opening in January 2020, Elsie House Women's Shelter has provided assistance to 72 women and 102 children.

Elsie House Women's Shelter

When choosing a name for Yumba-Meta Limited's second women's shelter, Yumba-Meta looked to one of its longest supporters, Elsie Thompson.

Elsie was an Aboriginal woman from the Gugu Badhun and Kudjala clans.

In the early 1970s, Elsie was involved with a small group of people, including her cousin Eva and her dear friend Maud, all led by Maud's husband, Ernie Hoolihan. This group was the early iteration of Yumba-Meta Limited.

Elsie's namesake, Elsie House, opened its doors in 2021, offering shelter and support to women and children seeking refuge from domestic and family violence. It is the second women's shelter under Yumba-Meta Limited's accommodation and support services.

"It's an honour to have this house named after me," Elsie said at the official opening. "Women need to know there is a safe place to go."

Seniors Housing

The Ernest & Maud Hoolihan Elders Village

The Ernest & Maud Hoolihan Elders Village continues to improve its offering as a retirement village-style accommodation for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders residents aged 55 years and over.

The village comprises 16 two-bedroom units, surrounded by trees and nature, where residents enjoy a peaceful setting and quality, modern homes that are easy to upkeep.

The village is named after Dr Ernest Hoolihan OAM and his late wife Maud, who founded Yumba-Meta in 1973. Creating an elders village was a long-time goal for Ernie and Maud, so it made sense that this achievement was their namesake.

The estate is on six acres of land at Deeragun, which was purchased in 2001. It took 12 years to complete the Hoolihan's elders' village vision, and the village has maintained total capacity almost consistently since it was officially opened in 2012 by the Hon. Minister for Housing and Public Works, Tim Mander.

Robert Leon

Tenant, Ernest & Maud Hoolihan Elders Village

After a long career working in the mining sector, both underground and as a boilermaker, in Mount Isa and Townsville, Robert Leon now lives a much slower-paced lifestyle in his retirement. Today, his days are filled with visits to friends and neighbours, fishing trips and watching the football.

‘Home’ for Robert is Yumba-Meta’s Ernest & Maud Hoolihan Elders Village, where he has lived for the past eight years since the village first opened in 2012. In fact, Robert was the third tenant to move into the 16-unit complex, and today he is the village’s longest residing tenant.

What’s kept Robert content in his unit for so long is the convenience. “The shops and the doctor are within walking distance, and I walk to the shops every day,” tells Robert. “The [Yumba-Meta housing] staff are good to deal with, and prompt in fixing things. All the maintenance is done for you.”

It’s the peace and quiet that Robert says he enjoys most about his home. “It’s very quiet out here. It feels safe and private, and we’ve had not one break in,” says Robert. “I get along with everyone out here, they’re all good people,” he adds of his fellow villagers. “We have had a few barbeques with the neighbours. We look out for each other. Loneliness is a killer; it’s good to get together.”

Taleta Ling

Tenant, Ernest & Maud Hoolihan Elders Village

Taleta Ling, “but everyone calls me Toots”, has been living at Yumba-Meta’s purpose-built Elders Village in Deeragun since 2013 and loves being close to nature. Moving into the village from a relatively small, noisy unit near Stockland, she appreciates the roominess of her two-bedroom unit and the suburban peace and quiet.

In 2018, the Elders Village was one of the first Yumba-Meta-owned housing developments to receive solar panels, which helps residents keep their electricity bills low. And residents benefit from a free bus service to access shopping and health appointments. This is particularly important for Taleta as she needs to attend hospital for dialysis three times a week.

In her youth Taleta worked for the Aboriginal Health Service for over a decade, taking patients to and from their appointments. Now things have come full circle and it’s her turn to receive some of the care she enjoyed giving others.

Residents of the Elders Village are visited regularly by Yumba-Meta support workers who are proactive in connecting the seniors with services they may need, such as My Aged Care.

“I know that Yumba-Meta is there to help us and I can ring up if anything happens.”

Support Services

Townsville Family Violence Support Service

Townsville Family Violence Support Service is a domestic and family violence support service assisting Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people experiencing and/or using violence. This service is trauma informed and delivered within a healing framework, prioritising victim safety and working to reduce violence and abusive behaviour.

Ultimately, the program's goal is to achieve best outcomes for families by keeping families safe. Best outcomes can mean many things - from working with offenders to proactively changing entrenched behaviours, to supporting clients to access and understand protection orders, court support, counselling, case management, information or referrals. The issue of family violence is often ingrained within families across many generations, and this is where the early intervention piece is critical to the long-term solution. This program is unique in that it deals with both persons using violence and victim survivors to attempt to break the cycle of family violence.

At the core of this service, is education. From YML's experience working with domestic and family violence victim survivors, there is a misconception that a protection order is 'only a piece of paper'. At the same time, persons using violence sometimes don't understand the conditions of their court order to avoid violating the order. The Townsville Family Violence Support Service works closely with victim survivors and persons using violence to understand court orders. At the end of the 2019-20 financial year, the service had commenced early trials of a 12-week Men's Behaviour Change Program led by an Indigenous Elder.

FACTS & FIGURES:

Since its launch in 2019, the Townsville Family Violence Support Service has supported 764 females and 350 males with case management and 324 females and 194 males with counselling.

The Men's Behaviour Change Program, running from May 2020 to April 2023, engaged 117 Indigenous males.

Yumba-Meta's Weeburra Thulgarri Residential Care Services for Young People provides essential out-of-home care and support to young individuals in need.

With safe and nurturing residential environments, trained staff, and evidence-based interventions, the program aims to empower young people to build a positive future.

FACTS & FIGURES:

Support Services

Weeburra Thulgarri Early Tutoring and Mentoring Support Program

Yumba-Meta Limited is committed to improving Indigenous children's physical, social, and emotional wellbeing, strengthening their connection to culture and building on resilience and coping skills.

In 2018, Yumba-Meta purchased 25 Acheron Avenue, Cranbrook, with the intent to establish a community centre and facilitate an early intervention tutoring and mentoring support program for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children.

The program launched in July 2021, targets Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children aged 7-8 years old (Year 2 at school), with the aim to improve students' school attendance, engagement in the classroom, literacy and numeracy skills, and overall confidence as learners. By building students' self-esteem and a sense of pride and belonging in a classroom environment, Yumba-Meta hopes to increase the chances of these students completing high school and possibly further education.

The program is named Weeburra Thulgarri, meaning 'one big family'.

Three State Primary schools; Rasmussen State School, Kelso State School, and Aitkenvale State School, partner with YML in the program. YML conducts two sessions per day four days of the week.

Students travel to the community centre by the Yumba-Meta bus, supervised by a teacher's aide and Yumba-Meta staff. They are served a healthy lunch before starting work. The program is centred on cultural and spiritual values, to support young children.

FACTS & FIGURES:

Since its start in July 2021, the Weeburra Thulgarri Early Tutoring and Mentoring Support Program has supported 59 Indigenous children aged seven to eight years.

Partnership & Collaboration Project

Karingal - Patient Transition Accommodation Facility

Karingal is Yumba-Meta Limited's patient transition accommodation facility, which is designed to provide short-term supported accommodation for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples from remote and rural communities accessing Townsville University Hospital and Health Services.

The facility was completed and officially opened by Philip Thompson MP on July 28, 2021. Construction took 14 months and cost more than $5.75 million, with Federal Government contributing $2.89 million and Yumba-Meta Limited contributing the balance plus the purchase of the land. This is a significant financial investment from a community organisation.

Karingal's purpose is to act as a bridge between Townsville's health system and patients from remote communities requiring medical treatments. The Townsville University Hospital and Health Services oversees a significant area throughout North Queensland, including many remote communities. When patients are referred to Townsville, many arrive, unable to speak English and with no understanding of the health system.

Yumba-Meta Limited provides culturally appropriate, trauma-informed case management support to assist clients in an unfamiliar urban environment. Referrals and support are provided to help patients regain functional independence and confidence sooner to avoid needing longer-term care and support.

The facility includes sixteen male beds, eight female beds and four self-contained units for families. Karingal also provides private consultant rooms for visiting health specialists and other agencies. The short-term accommodation is staffed 24/7, 365 days of the year.

Housingwise Realty

Townsville's First Social Enterprise Real Estate Agency

Housingwise Realty is Townsville's first social enterprise real estate agency with 100% of profits going towards charitable work to improve life outcomes for vulnerable people.

It is a Registered Not-for-Profit Real Estate Agency that is a subsidiary of Yumba-Meta Limited. It offers a personal 'boutique' service for people looking to rent in the private market.

Instead of striving to be the largest agency in Townsville, we focus on managing a limited number of properties. This allows Housingwise Realty to offer the best personal management for both landlords and tenants.

Through Housingwise Realty, YML hopes to increase housing options for people who face discrimination and poor judgement in the private housing market.

Long-Term Housing Project

Hillside Gardens Residential Estate Development

Hillside Gardens Residential Estate has proven a shining jewel in Yumba-Meta Limited's property development portfolio. The estate, located on 50 acres of land in the foothills of Mt Louisa, was designed to facilitate pathways to Indigenous home ownership.

Thirty-four of the 41 land lots were sold to private buyers and the remaining lots were retained by Yumba-Meta Limited.

The last 15 lots sold during the 2020-21 financial year, with the final lot sold in February 2021. Land sales from Hillside Gardens totalled $2.2 million.

Chairman and founder of Yumba-Meta, Dr Ernest Hoolihan OAM, said the development of Hillside Gardens was a "game-changer" for the local Indigenous community.

"Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples face multiple barriers to homeownership, including inter-generational poverty resulting from dispossession, low income and insecure employment," he said.

"The staged development of Hillside Gardens allowed us to fund the subdivision progressively—as we sold blocks to private buyers, these funds financed the construction of the rental housing and supported three young Indigenous families on their path to homeownership.

"We've been able to create a well-designed, village-like atmosphere in an enviable location within easy reach of amenities," said Dr Hoolihan.

Matthew Lucas

Hillside Gardens Resident

Hillside Gardens resident Matthew Lucas built his home with lifestyle in mind. The first-time homeowner was the estate's initial resident when he moved in just before Christmas in 2017.

Matthew's three-bedroom, single-level home, located at the end of a cul-de-sac, also includes a media room and a large garage big enough to fit his boat. While the home has a front yard, there is minimal backyard, which was intentional.

"It's low maintenance, which is exactly what I wanted," says Matthew, who confesses he prefers to spend his weekends boating or camping rather than mowing a big lawn or giving hours to tending to a garden.

Since moving in, Matthew has seen the neighborhood come to life as houses have been built, and residents have settled into the 50-acre estate located at the foothills of Mount Louisa. "The neighbors are nice; it's a pretty quiet area."
